COURSE SCOPE:

Scope of the course at the Intermediate Level Education (ILE) at the resident Command and General Staff College (CGSC) includes 40 hours of instruction on the challenges of the home station work environment as well as the deployed operational environment. The course is built around a series of guest speakers, who are considered Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) in their respective areas with many being in 06-level CSL duty positions. The topics of discussions they lead span a broad range of Signal competencies and are designed to expose the students to the most relevant issues they will encounter at their next duty assignment, such as signal disciplines, roles and responsibilities of the S6, emerging doctrine on signal support, roles, functions and organization of signal agencies and units; network operations duties and responsibilities, signal lessons learned, and signal system capabilities and limitations.
